APO # 36, U. S. ARMY

11 May 1945

SUBJECT: "OPERATIONS IN GERMANY"

TO : Commanding General, 36th Infantry Division, APO #36, U.S. Army.

1. Transmitted herewith Historical Data of the 111th Medical Battalion for the month of April 1945.

2. The division was charged with the security of a large area of Germany west of the Rhine, with Kaiserslautern at the center. Collecting Companies remained attached to their respective combat teams. Clearing companies were established separately, strategically located so as to serve the largest troop concentrations with the minimum distance to travel.

3. Evacuation from the Division was forward, due to the fact that all action was east of the Rhine. Lack of Army medical installations to the rear of this area worked some hardship on the evacuation hospital receiving our evacuees, as this installation was therefore obliged to receive patients from both sides of the Rhine. The clearing of enemy wounded from hospitals within the area added an additional burden to the Army hospitals.

4. Camps were established for displaced personnel, staffed by medical personnel from the medical battalion. Medical supplies were provided these camps by the Division medical supply. Hospitals caring for enemy wounded were visited frequently by Division medical personnel, and a close check kept on the condition and progress of patients. The Division medical supply augmented their stocks whenever it became necessary. No Division medical personnel were employed to staff civilian hospitals caring for enemy wounded. Civilians were tendered emergency medical service by Division installations and local civilian physicians were assisted in their care of the local population.

5. Division medical service has difficulty coping with the additional burden of large numbers of enemy wounded due to the lack of transportation and personnel available for this work.

6. Motor vehicle operation was very satisfactory. Opportunity to check vehicles and institute repairs during the period of quiet enabled vehicular maintenance to reach an excellent level.

7. Medical supplies proved entirely adequate, and such supplies as were provided for enemy wounded and sick were well received because of their superior quality.

"OPERATIONS IN GERMANY"

111th MEDICAL BATTALION

APRIL 1945

On the first day of the month units of the Division were relieved from holding positions along the western bank of the Rhine River by elements of the First French Army.

The Division was then given the mission of supporting the Military Government in the vicinity of Kaiserslautern and Homburg, Germany. This mission continued until the 28th day of the month at which time the Division was recomited to combat. During the 27 day period, various medical tasks were performed by this battalion peculiar only to a policing or occupying force. One was supply of medical service for the large numbers of refugees and abandoned prisoners of the enemy. It was necessary to furnish services of medical officers for these camps in the various towns until the services of the local civilian medical personnel could be recruited and organized at which time the medical officers were released. This usually required from one to two weeks. Sufficient medical supplies were procured through local sources by the Military Government.

It was also necessary to check certain hospitals used by the enemy. Allied and enemy wounded were found in these hospitals. The majority ofthe wounds being caused by allied bombings and strafing in this particular area. All Transportable allied and enemy wounded soldiers were evacuated and a check was made to insure that those soldiers remaining would have necessary medical supplies and treatment.

Civilians requested passes to travel from one place to another. All cases were considered and if it appeared that such a trip was valid and necessary, the individual was referred or taken to the proper military agency for screening and issuance of pass.

The civilians in the area of the battalion were usually cooperative and there were no instances of attempted sabotage. All Civilians that appeared suspicious were picked up and taken to proper military agency for thorough check.

The last three days of the month were devoted to combat operations. Moves were made daily by all units. The distance of these moves varied from twenty to one hundred miles. There were very few battle casualties.
